Command: Air National Guard – District of Columbia
Branch: Air Force

History & Mission: The 113th Wing, District of Columbia Air National Guard is located at Joint Base Andrews, Maryland. The 113th Wing is the air component of the District of Columbia National Guard. As the only federal National Guard unit, its chain of command extends from the President of the United States, through the Secretary of the Army, to the Commanding General, DC National Guard. The 113th Wing is an Air Combat Command-gained unit and is also an Air Mobility Command component. As a National Guard unit, the 113th Wing has both a Title 10 (federal) and Title 32 (state) mission. Specifically, the Wing's missions include defending the National Capital Region, providing global lift for national leaders, maintaining a worldwide deployable fighter and support forces to meet expeditionary requirements, and supporting the District of Columbia and local communities during special security events, natural disasters, and other contingency operations.
